

Action on Pre-eclampsia study days 2014

Multidisciplinary days for all those involved in care for pregnant women

Pre-eclampsia can kill mothers and unborn babies

Can you afford not to know how to manage it?

March 19th 2014 UCD Dublin

See website for alternative venues and dates

The latest CMACE report (2011) showed that 91% of maternal deaths from pre-eclampsia in 2006-8 were associated with sub-standard care.

APEC brings together the leading experts in pre-eclampsia to give you the most up to date knowledge about how to deliver evidence-informed care and share best practice.

Each day includes:

- Lectures
- Discussion
- Q&A sessions
- Networking

€90 full price

€45 students

APEC is the only national charity dedicated to educating, informing and advising health professionals and the public about pre-eclampsia.
